Ike Has Activity Increase

President Signs 3 Documents, Holds Brief Staff Meeting In Hospital Room

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed three documents. And his press secretary said the chief executive is "feeling fine" on this fourth day after his intestinal operation.

This was the first time Eisenhower had signed an official paper since the emergency surgery Saturday.

The President affixed his signatures while sitting up in a chair and holding the papers on his knee.

At the same time he received a report from his chief assistant, Sherman Adams, on this morning's bipartisan meeting at the White House on the foreign aid bill and asked Adams to thank personally all the senators who took part in the meeting.

Eisenhower held what amounted to a regular staff meeting. It lasted about 15 minutes. Besides Adams he conferred with Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Parsons, his liaison man with Congress, and White House Staff Secretary Andrew J. Goodpaster.

The papers Eisenhower signed were:

1. An emergency allocation of $50,000 for federal aid to flooded areas in Clear Creek and Jefferson counties, Colorado. The areas were damaged by a break in the Georgetown Dam as the result of runoff from winter snows.

2. An executive order approving a new design of the U. S. Army flag. One of the new flags, bearing the Army seal, will be presented to Secretary of the Army Brucker June 30.

3. The International Wheat Agreement for 1956. This becomes effective automatically unless the Senate disapproves it within 30 days.

Press Secretary James Hagerty told questioners Eisenhower was wearing a silk maroon dressing gown over tan pajamas as he met with Adams and the other aides. The documents were shown to newsmen and the President's signature looked firm but perhaps slanted a little more to the right than usual.

Asked how the President is feeling, Hagerty said:

"I think he feels very good."

He described the documents signed today as routine in nature—about the same number as the President might normally sign in a morning at the White House.

Hagerty's noon-day report followed a morning statement from the President's doctors that he passed his most comfortable night since the operation, his spirits are high and his morale good.

The 8:15 a.m. EDT medical bulletin said:

"The President had a more comfortable night than he has had to date."

"As of this morning his temperature is 99, his pulse is 80, his blood pressure is 132 over 70, and his respiration is 20—all of which indicate an essentially normal reaction at this time."

"His spirits are high. His morale is good."

The bulletin came three days after Eisenhower underwent emergency surgery to correct an intestinal block.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, who relayed the medical report from the President's doctors, said he expected Eisenhower would take walking exercise twice today as he did yesterday.

All of the doctor's reports to date have been optimistic.

A hospital bulletin last night said Eisenhower "again requested permission to get out of bed and try out his legs."

The doctors added:

"With very little support he walked 20 feet to an easy chair where he sat for 15 minutes before he returned to bed."

Closing Remarks to Jury--

Connelly's Attorney Claims Trial Is Based on Suspicion

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The attorney for Matthew J. Connelly, White House aid to former President Truman, charged today that the government's conspiracy case against his client is based more on suspicion than proof.

"Mr. Connelly is not to be tried on suspicion or gossip or innuendo," Attorney John H. Lashly said in his closing argument. "The basis for the government's case has to be proof. There has been a flood of suspicion into the record."

Connelly and T. Lamar Caudle, former head of the Justice Department's tax division, are accused of conspiring to defraud the government by trying to sidetrack criminal prosecution of Irving Sachs for income tax evasion.

"The record is overloaded with facts, circumstances and innuendo," Lashly told the Federal Court jury at another point. "It is hard to find proof."

Lashly said there was no proof that Connelly said anything to Caudle "to set in motion the complicated machinery to fix this case."

Referring to Harry I. Schwimmer, attorney for Sachs, Lashly said: "I don't know how to justify what Schwimmer did and I don't intend to. It seems pretty evident that Schwimmer was a 'name dropper' and it was not beyond him to explain that he knew the President and the White House staff for whatever purpose he might have had in mind."

He said further there "is no doubt Connelly and Schwimmer were friends, but is that proof beyond a reasonable doubt that he entered into a conspiracy?"

"This case can 'not be founded on suspicion,' Lashly said. "Connelly lived in a glass house and if you approach every transaction he carried out certainly you can find something to talk about."

Wylls S. Newcomb, chief government counsel charged in his closing argument yesterday that the Sachs tax case was delayed eight times by "utterly senseless investigations and reinvestigations."

Newcomb said a "sinister outside influence" worked on the case "from the moment it got to Washington" and said evidence in the lengthy trial indicates "beyond the slightest shadow of a doubt that the Sachs case was fixed" by Connelly, Caudle and Schwimmer.

Schwimmer was a defendant in the trial until he became ill and was granted a mistrial. The jury is expected to get the case tomorrow.

House Group Votes to Cite Paul Robeson

Action Against Negro Singer Comes After Shouting Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Committee on un-American Activities today voted to cite Paul Robeson for contempt of Congress.

The vote came after a furious shouting session between the left wing Negro singer and Chairman Walter (D-Pa.) and other members of the committee.

Walter finally banged his gavel in the midst of an expostulation by Robeson and declared the hearing adjourned.

Still flushed, the chairman convened the committee for a business session and it immediately voted unanimously to recommend that Robeson be cited for contempt. The recommendation goes to Congress which has the power to vote the actual citation.

The committee called Robeson in an inquiry, begun last month, into possible use of American passports by Communists or fellow travelers.

Robeson came to the session with a prepared statement declaring his "fight for a passport is a struggle for freedom."

He has been in a court fight with the government over denial of travel documents he had sought for trips abroad.

Robeson told a reporter, "there was no contempt, I answered every question. I was just standing my ground."

Policemen Sound Overwhelming 'No' On Bermuda Shorts

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—Muskegon police have "nixed" Bermuda shorts for hot weather wear, but are shedding neckties for the summer.

Chief Fred E. Castenholz said he got an overwhelming "no" on Bermuda shorts in an informal poll, and that one patrolman summed up the force's reaction thus: "They'd laugh us off the streets."

Dulles Finds Soviet Change Encouraging But Warns Against False Appearances

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today there are encouraging developments in Soviet behavior. But he said it is hard to judge yet whether the Russian regime will become more responsible to the people or revert to the "evils" of Stalinism.

Dulles told a news conference that what he called the evil fruits of Stalin's rule, as reported in the famous Khrushchev speech, were the product of a "system of dictatorship."

"We can hope," Dulles said, "that Khrushchev's revelations will mark the beginning of a change away from that system of dictatorship. But that, I fear, may not be his purpose."

"The purpose may be merely to persuade the subject people that the present dictatorship is good, because it condemns the past dictatorship."

Under questioning, Dulles said he regarded as probably true reports that the president regime is giving Soviet workers greater freedom to choose their jobs. He said he had talked this over two weeks ago with President George Meany of the AFL-CIO.

He said Meany thought there were favorable developments on this point.

Such things as this, Dulles said, are encouraging developments which indicate a growing demand in the Soviet Union for a government more responsive to the legitimate desires of the governed.

But at the moment, he said, it is hard to judge which way the Soviet regime will go.

On other questions, Dulles said: 1. There's no difference between himself and President Eisenhower on the question of United States policy toward neutrality.

In a news conference last week, the President made comments widely interpreted as a defense of the rights of some nations to be neutral. Later, the White House issued a clarifying statement. Dulles last week asserted that neutrality outside of "exceptional circumstances" is "immoral."

Dulles said he had talked with the President and that his and the President's views were the same—but he declined to explain how they are the same or to detail his discussions with the President.

2. The United States hopes and trusts that a new information control law adopted by the Turkish government of Prime Minister Adnan Menderes will not impair the access of the press to free information.

Dulles said the views of the United States about freedom of information are very well known and that the impact of the Turkish law will be determined by what is done under it.

3. The United States will discuss with its allies, including German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, Soviet Premier Bulganin's proposal to Eisenhower for a cutback in foreign armed forces in Germany. The United States has not yet decided what kind of answer to make to Bulganin and will not decide until after allied consultation.

Claims Benson Disgraced 3 Missourians

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) today blasted secretary of Agriculture Benson for failing to show up at a hearing dealing with Missouri farmer committees.

He said today's Senate Agriculture subcommittee hearing was arranged for the secretary's convenience and criticized him for not being on hand.

"Benson has disgraced three fine citizens of Missouri," Symington shouted, "and he doesn't want to come down here and tell us about it."

He said the secretary did not want to make statement which, Symington said, would clear the men and allow them to return to their homes with unsullied reputations.

Symington referred to three Boone County, Mo., Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee members, Lynn Drane, E. S. Wilcox and Archie Nichols.

The senator said Benson had informed him the men were dismissed for "obvious manipulation of normal wheat yields on farms having excess wheat so those producers would be excused from paying proper penalties on their farm marketing excess." It was brought out that this charge was made by the State ASC committee in Missouri in removing the three elected committeemen last Oct. 14.

Drane and Wilcox testified yesterday. They contended they were actually fired because they had dismissed the committee's county manager against the wishes of state chairman Murray Colbert.

Two Injured In Car-Truck Crash Monday

Mrs. W. A. Smith Painfully Hurt On South Highway 65

Painful back injuries were received by Mrs. Margaret Smith, 47, 1109 West Broadway, in a car-truck crash just north of the Flat Creek Inn on Highway 65 about 6:35 p. m. Monday. Mrs. Smith was a passenger in a 1953 Cadillac sedan driven by Dr. James W. Boger, 61, 1601 West Third, along with her husband, W. A. Smith of the W. A. Smith Motor Co. All three were riding in the front seat of the car.

The car, headed south on Highway 65, driven by Dr. Boger, was slowing to make a turn into the Flat Creek Inn when it was rammed from the rear by a 1955 Chevrolet two-ton truck also headed south and owned by the Warsaw exchange of MFA, driven by Wade David Hill, 31, Warsaw. Hill was not injured in the accident.

Ewing ambulance was called to the scene of the accident and took Mrs. Smith to Bothwell Hospital where emergency treatment was given. Mr. Smith accompanied his wife to the hospital in the ambulance. Dr. Boger rode to the hospital with passersby.

Mrs. Smith was X-rayed at the hospital where it was found that she suffered a sprained neck and back. Dr. Boger received a sprained neck from the accident.

The Cadillac of Dr. Boger was damaged extensively to the rear, the bumper, trunk lid and left rear fender being smashed. The front seat of the car was thrown back causing the injuries to Mrs. Smith and Dr. Boger. The MFA truck driven by Hill was damaged on the right front fender and front bumper.

The car was towed to the Hamlin Service Station by the wrecker from that station. The truck was driven on to Warsaw by Hill.

Trooper R. A. Joos, of the State Highway Patrol, Sedalia, conducted the investigation of the accident.

Gets Children Back On Promise to Teach Against Polygamy

ST. GEORGE, Utah (AP)—Juvenile Court Judge Durham Morris ordered Mrs. Vera Johnson Blacks' eight children restored to her when she promised yesterday to teach them polygamy is against the law.

Mrs. Black said she still believes in plural marriage as a religious principle.

The children, ages 4 to 20, were taken from her several months ago and placed in foster homes.

Mrs. Black, who lives on the Utah side of Short Creek, near the Arizona state line, has been described by law enforcement authorities as the plural wife of Leonard Black, who lives on the Arizona side of the community.

Black was arrested several years ago in a roundup of Short Creek polygamists. He served a prison term on a charge of unlawful cohabitation.

Both parents were at the juvenile court hearing. They said they had not lived together since 1953 and would continue to live apart. Black promised to support the children.

The Blacks have been members of a cult known as Fundamentalists. Mrs. Black said there now is no organized group in Short Creek which advocates polygamy.

Car Accident In Windsor Injures One

A two-car collision in Windsor about 9:15 p. m. Monday caused injury to one person and total loss in damages to one of the vehicles. The accident occurred at the intersection of Benton and Tebo, a block west of the main street.

Herbert M. Sloan, 37, Kansas City, was driving a 1955 Pontiac sedan on Benton, and Mrs. Dorothy Jane Smith Feaster, 37, of Windsor, was driving her 1955 Oldsmobile sedan on Tebo, and turning onto Benton, when the collision occurred.

Sloan's car crossed the street through a center street parking area and on the opposite side struck the curb and telephone pole and came to an abrupt stop. The crash of the car was so great the frame of the vehicle, front end and the right side, were damaged to the extent that Trooper Richard Joos of the State Highway Patrol, who investigated the accident, stated it was classified as a total loss.

Damage to the Oldsmobile was to the left front fender and one bumper, and the damage estimated at better than $75.

Sloan suffered a cut lip which took three stitches as well as bruises and shock. He was taken to the Windsor Hospital where he was treated and admitted.

Trooper Joos reported he gave Sloan a Patrol summons to appear in court at Clinton on Friday for careless driving.

In the car with Mrs. Feaster were Carol Ann Tullis, 15, and Jo Ann Smith, 15, both of Windsor. Neither Mrs. Feaster or the girls were reported as injured.

Request Reduced Aid Cut

Eisenhower Sends Plea Thru Adams For Entire Amount Of $4,900,000,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration civilian and military leaders urged Senate Republican and Democratic leaders today to restore at least 600 million dollars of the $1,100,000,000 slashed from the foreign aid bill by the House.

The Senate leaders said after a White House conference that Secretary of State Dulles and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told them "great injury" would be done if 600 million dollars was not added to the $3,900,000,000 authorization measure passed by the House yesterday by a 273-122 vote.

President Eisenhower scheduled the White House session before he was stricken with his intestinal illness, and it was held despite his absence.

From his hospital bed, Eisenhower sent an oral plea through Sherman Adams, his chief assistant, for the full $4,900,000,000 he originally asked.

Adams presided at the meeting of the senators with Dulles and Radford.

At Walter Reed Army Hospital, where Eisenhower is recovering from abdominal surgery, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President would not send a written message to the conference.

Hagerty said, however, Adams would give the senators a report on the President's condition, based on a morning bulletin which said he spent his most comfortable night since he underwent surgery early Saturday.

In addition, Hagerty said, Adams would tell the group of Eisenhower's "deep interest" in the foreign aid bill and would say "the President feels that the support of NATO has been really undercut" by the fund slashing in the House.

Hagerty said Adams, on behalf of the President, would urge that the full $4,900,000,000 recommended by the administration be restored during Senate action on the legislation.

This would permit NATO to carry on its complete functions, Hagerty said. He noted that Eisenhower had spoken in similar terms at a news conference and in a letter to House Republican Leader Joseph Martin Jr. of Massachusetts.

Third Polio Clinic Will Be Conducted At Armory Thursday

The third and final polio vaccine clinic will be held Thursday at the Sedalia Armory and will be open to children between the ages of one and 14 and to expectant mothers.

Because there is still a shortage of polio vaccine in the state, the state has asked that only first and second shots be given. No third shots will be given. It has been explained that the two shots will give a high degree of protection during the summer months, when polio occurs the most.

Registration will begin at 8:15 a.m., and the shots will be given between 8:30 and 10:30 a.m. by members of the Pettis County Medical Society.

Governor Cancels Leave of Absence For Carpenter

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Gov. Phil M. Donnelly today cancelled the two month leave of absence that Agriculture Commissioner L. C. "Clegg" Carpenter had requested earlier to campaign full time for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Carpenter announced Saturday he was withdrawing from the political race but he still has not notified the secretary of state's office of the withdrawal.

The formal withdrawal is necessary to take Carpenter's name off the primary election ballot.

Yesterday, Carpenter sent the governor a letter enclosing his withdrawal announcement and asking that he be allowed to return to the state's payroll as agriculture commissioner.

Today Donnelly granted that request, effective at once.

Chavez Thinks Navy Missile Tops Army's

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's Talos anti-aircraft guided missile appears to be a "better weapon" than the Army's Nike, according to Sen. Chavez (D-NM).

Chavez is chairman of a Senate Appropriations subcommittee on defense funds. Yesterday, that group heard the staff chiefs of the Army, Navy and Air Force discuss the relative merits of the Talos and the Nike.

Afterward, Chavez told newsmen, "It appears from the evidence adduced at the hearing that the Talos is a better weapon than the Nike." He said it has longer range.

He added that if pending tests indicate this to be true, the subcommittee probably "will recommend that only that weapon be produced in the future."

The Nike has been employed around many of the nation's population and industrial centers. It has become one focal point of interservice rivalry, with critics questioning its ability to knock down the latest and fastest jet aircraft.

The Talos, developed by the Navy for use on light cruisers, also is being installed around continental Air Force bases.

Capitulating testimony by Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations; Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff; and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army staff chief, Chavez said:

"They said the Talos was the best, that it had certain features the Nike did not have, but that the Nike is still important as a land weapon."

"The Talos will be adapted to land use. We will continue to have the Nike, but if the forthcoming tests bear out the evidence adduced today, no new Nike installations will take place."

The New Mexico senator said the Talos will be in "big production" inside of nine months.

Portland Officials

Testify Before Jury In Vice Inquiry

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Portland's police chief, mayor and district attorney testify today before a grand jury conducting a vice investigation.

State Atty. Gen. Robert Thornton said the three officials were not under subpoena but "letters of invitation" had been sent to each by the grand jury. Chief of Police James Purcell Jr., Mayor Fred L. Peterson and Dist. Atty. William M. Langley all were to appear.

Gov. Elmo Smith named Thornton to conduct the investigation and removed Langley from contact with the grand jury. That was after the Oregonian charged in a series of copyrighted articles that Seattle gamblers had conspired with some Portlanders to try to set up a vice ring here. Some of the charges concerned Langley.

Rockets Land In Outskirts Of Alaska City

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Six rockets, fired from an F89 Scorpion jet fighter plane on a gunnery range near Fairbanks, slammed to earth on the southern outskirts of the city last night.

Police said there were no injuries and no property damage from the errant missiles, which were rigged with dummy heads not containing explosives.

The Air Force spokesman at Ladd Air Force Base, the plane's home field, termed the accident an "electronic miscalculation of distance." The rockets came from one of four Scorpions practice firing on the rocket range 27 miles south of here.

As far as can be determined, the Air Force spokesman said, radar equipment being used to guide the Scorpions to the target was not "true."

When the rockets were fired, the spokesman said, the plane must have been closer to Fairbanks than 27 miles because the rockets being used did not have that much range.

One of the rockets hit the Richardson Highway. Several of the others landed near small homes on the southern outskirts of Fairbanks but caused no damage because of their nonexplosive nature.

Brig. Gen. T. Alan Bennett, commander of the 11th Air Division, said Air Force teams and Fairbanks police were successful in locating all the rockets.

"There was no human error," Bennett said. "The cause was an electronic miscalculation of distance."

GOP Leaders Told to Cut Aid Requests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leaders reportedly have told President Eisenhower's aides bluntly to pare administration foreign aid requests below $4,300,000,000.

In an unannounced session, the GOP leaders reviewed prospects for Senate action on a $3,800,000,000 foreign assistance authorization bill passed 273-122 by the House yesterday.

One Republican, who asked not to be named, said Eisenhower's assistants were told they would be lucky if the Senate added half a billion dollars to the House figure. The administration originally requested $4,900,000,000.

The President's aides were told firmly, this conference said, that they must justify fully and in detail any proposed increases over the House ceiling. Even then, the consensus of the GOP leaders was that it would be difficult to obtain any boosts.

John B. Hollister, director of the International Cooperation Administration, has said that if the billion-dollar cut in military aid funds is allowed to stand, it would "seriously impair programs essential to the defense of the United States."

Leading Democrats made it clear heavy weight will be put behind a move to slash the House amount further in the Senate.

Sen. Long (D-La.), who has sponsored fund-cutting amendments in the past, said he was happy about the House slash and hopes the Senate will make further reductions.

Long is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which will begin voting tomorrow on items in the authorization bill. Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.), another member of the committee, said he doubts seriously that the House-approved total will be increased, even if added White House pressure is brought to bear.

Even if the House amount stands, Mansfield said he expects further cuts when both Houses consider an appropriation bill to provide the actual aid funds.

Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) joined Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) in demanding further reductions.

Byrd said there is a backlog of between six and seven billion dollars in unspent aid funds. He said he thinks 1½ billions can be cut off the House authorization.

Russell said he is thinking about trying to divert the whole $3,800,000,000 foreign aid authorization to the Air Force. He said this could be accomplished by an amendment to the House-passed bill.

That amount was exactly what Gen. Curtis LeMay asked yesterday as an increase in spending authority for the next fiscal year, starting July 1, to step up production of all-jet B52 intercontinental bombers. Appearing before the Senate Appropriations Committee, LeMay proposed the $3,800,000,000 a year increase for each of the next four or five years. LeMay is chief of the Strategic Air Command—this country's retaliatory striking force.

The central and southeast portions of the country had uncomfortable sleeping temperatures in the 70s and 80s overnight.

Bid Farewell To Most Famous Art Collection

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The film famous gathered among the old masters last night to say farewell to Hollywood's most famous art collection at a lavish party given by Mrs. Edward G. Robinson.

It was one of those parties that is seldom seen in these times of champagne and cordials, crab from Alaska, shrimp from Louisiana and desserts that were out of this world.

Greer Garson, Van Johnson and Susan Hayward were among the 150 who tasted of the delights and reveled in the greatest art collection west of the Mississippi.

The reason for the farewell was the broken marriage of Edward G. and Gladys Lloyd Robinson after 29 years of wedded life and art collecting. Their divorce comes up in court July 20. Robinson is now starring on Broadway in "Middle of the Night."

"I suppose we will divide the collection in half," Gladys said. "Half of it belongs to me and I intend to take it with me."

Mrs. Robinson, an artist in her own right who has had 40 shows throughout the world, is leaving this week for a month tour of the Orient. She plans to return in time for the divorce proceedings.

Some of her guests paid the wall that heed to paintings on the wall that would attract huge prices at an art auction. There were the brooding "L'italienne" by Corot and the brightly colored "Le Pere Panguy" by Van Gogh, both of which are worth $250,000 apiece or more.

NAACP Says It Will Fight Ban In Courts

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People says it "will not be intimidated" by an Alabama injunction banning the NAACP from that state.

The NAACP Board of Directors said yesterday the organization will fight the ban "in the courts and in the arena of public opinion."

Board Chairman Dr. Channing H. Tobias said the board adopted a policy statement that "instructs the NAACP attorneys to take the necessary legal steps to obtain a hearing on the merits of the Alabama injunction at the earliest possible time with a view to dissolving the court's restraining order."

The court order restrains the NAACP from doing business in Alabama on grounds that its actions in the state have been aimed at violation of Alabama law.

Light Weight Truck Sales Turning Soft

By SAM DAWSON
DETROIT (AP)—Two toned cars may be the glamor girls of the automobile industry but this year it's the broad beamed trucks that have been bringing home the sales and the profits.

But of late even the trucks, like so many other things in the economy, have begun to show a split personality.

Light weight truck sales have turned soft, industry spokesmen here say. They report a drop in purchasing by farmers, one of their big customers. Makers hope for a sales pickup in the fall as farmers move harvest to market.

Heavy duty trucks, on the other hand, are still barreling right down the highway. And the new multibillion-dollar highway system now in the works doesn't cloud their forward vision in the least. Backlogs of orders are high. Truck builders think the times are right for them.

They cite: The many new plants being built on the outskirts of cities or along the thoroughways; the plants being dispersed into semi-rural or previously non-industrial areas; the rush to the suburbs from the cities, meaning a rash of shopping centers and branch stores to be served; and changes in a number of state laws to permit bigger truck and trailer units to pound the highways.

Heavy duty truck builders point out that for some time their gains have outpaced the truck market as a whole. The independent truck makers have worked this field hard. The big auto companies are now bringing out new designs to fight for more of the heavy truck sales volume.

Robert F. Black, chairman of White Motor, a heavy truck builder, finds business much better than last year. He believes "the healthy demand for the heavy duty trucks will be sustained for some time." John L. McCaffrey, chairman of International Harvester, says in Chicago, "Our backlog of motor truck orders shows no signs of diminishing." White Motor forecasts a healthy gain in output of heavy duty trucks.

Trailer makers are right in there, too. Roy Fruehauf, president of Fruehauf Trailer, is even more confident in his predictions than are the truck builders. He says his sales should show a 70 per cent gain this year.

Those roads are going to get more crowded all the time!

Fiddler Is Fined For Disturbing the Peace

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—While Felix Czakowski fiddled, his neighbors burned.

In fact, tempers got so hot, the Oklahoma City man was hauled into court on a disturbance charge. One neighbor testified she didn't believe Czakowski knew one note from another and that he screeched on his violin "constantly."

Another claimed he played the fiddle "from early afternoon and sometimes all night long and danced and jumped on the floor."

HARTFORD, Conn. Servants And Groceries....

The other day we commented on how modern labor saving devices had practically put full-time domestic servants into a category of the extinct dodo bird. In other words the male slant on the changing times was indicative the female of 1956 had a cinch job keeping her household tidy. Why even a part-time girl was practically unnecessary because of the electric conveniences in the modern home.

Males have a way of talking out of turn, and this seems to have been a case in point. Mothers with three or four tots say there has been no improvement in children as labor-saving devices. They start out with labor and add to it until they are away up into the teen age class.

Also, instead of less work around the house creating less demand for full time domestic help, the trouble is the full-time worker is hard to obtain because he or she can make more money elsewhere than in doing house work or yard work. They have priced themselves out of the domestic servant field.

The good old days of the 25c per hour worker around the house have gone. So are the prices of commodities which were much lower for practically everything than they are now.

The Saratoga (Wyo.) Sun has something interesting to say in this regard. Back in the 90's round steak sold for 12 cents a pound, butter for a quarter, and a loaf of bread went for a nickel. The cost of the grocery order which came to 85 cents then would be about $2.98 today.

So it looks as if we were taking a fearful beating, price-wise. However, there is another side to the coin—earning power. Government figures show that a worker who averaged 16 cents an hour in the 90's averaged $1.88 last year. Says the Sun: "The factory worker who bought the list of staples in the 1890's would have worked about five hours and 20 minutes for the money it took to pay the bill. Today he can earn enough for the same sack of groceries in about an hour and a half."

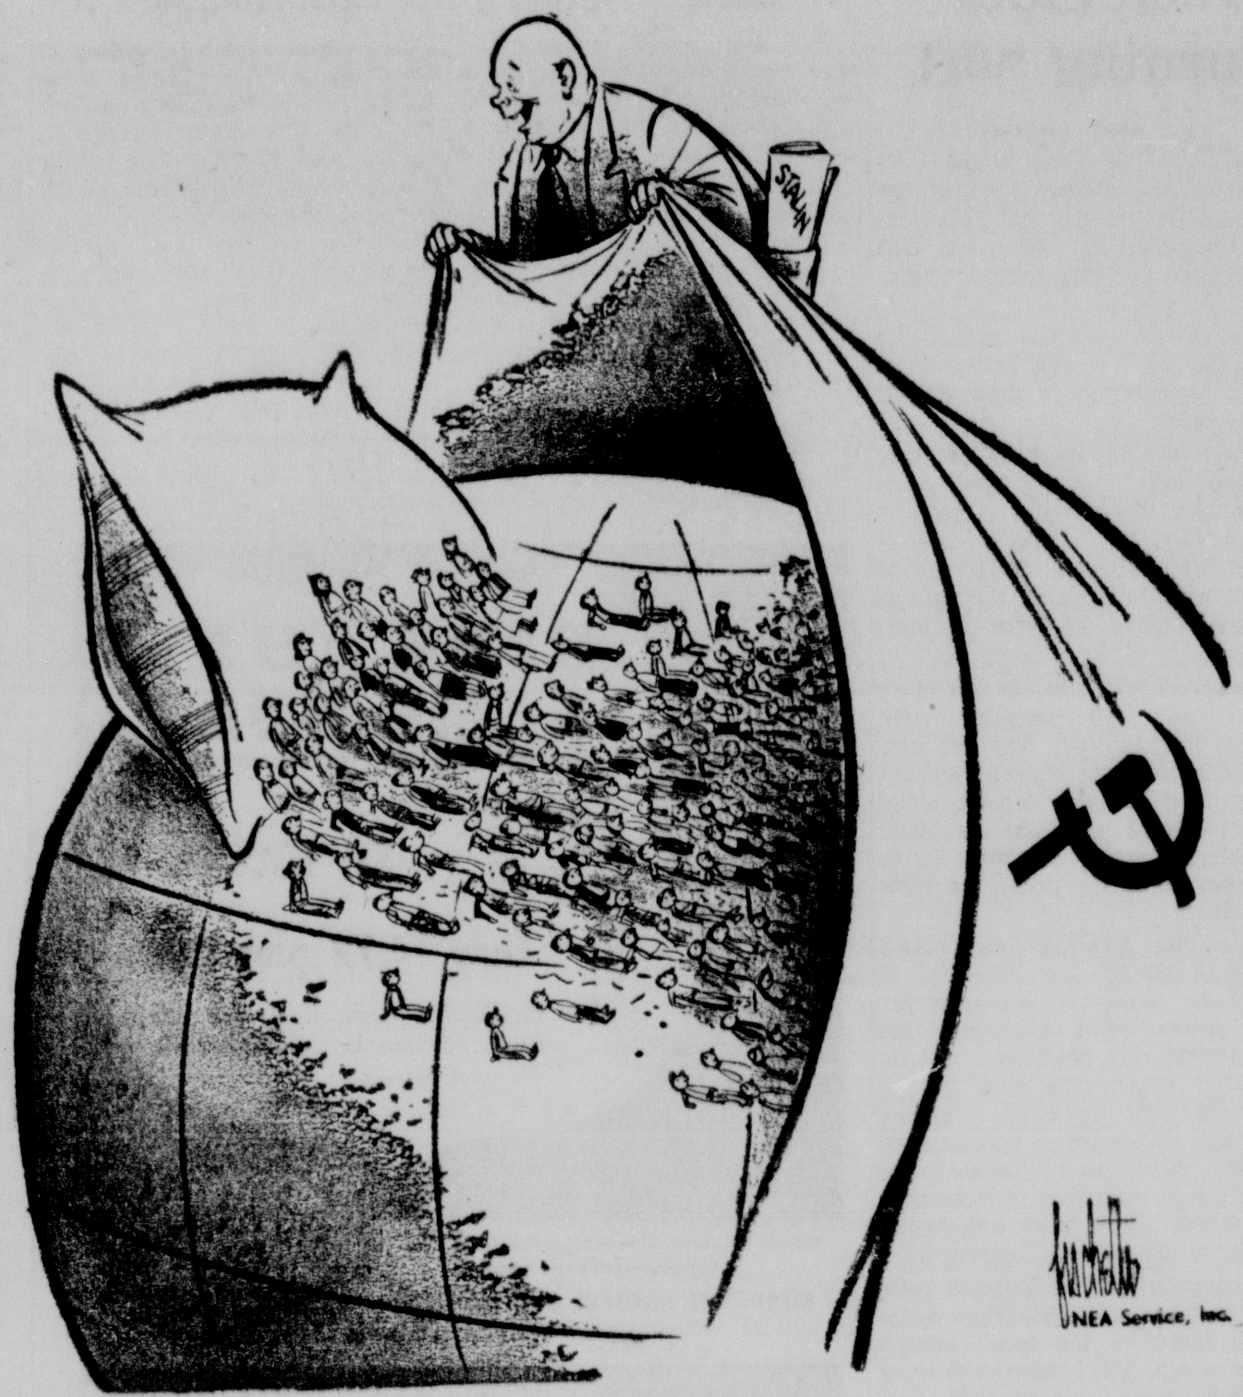

One might conclude the situation would be generally the same in the case of goods other than foods. One of the important things that has contributed to this great increase in purchasing power is within retailing itself. Mass distribution—based on big turnover at a very small profit—was unknown in the 90's. Percentage of profit on each transaction was higher then. Today the large stores commonly earn as little as one cent net on each dollar of sales; smaller stores also earn very modest profits.

All of which helps the family budget tremendously even if there are many mouths to feed.

But that still doesn't solve the full-time domestic servant problem in spite of all the modern labor-saving gadgets.

If there are more brick-bats hurled our way because of off-the-cuff comments, how about padding them slightly?

American Reds Try New Policy Tactics

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The leaders of the American Communist party at a secret meeting in March, decided to differ with the Russian leadership from time to time—but never on basic issues.

The information comes from a source which cannot be named but is completely reliable. The decision does not mean any break between Moscow and the U. S. party leaders who for years have slavishly followed every twist in the Moscow line.

Far from it. It is simply a switch in tactics intended to make the American party look less like a Russian stooge and to try to gain some influence and tolerance in the United States.

But last week's startling editorial in the party newspaper, the Daily Worker, sharply criticizing the new Russian leaders cannot be assumed to reflect the party's new tactics.

It is an educated guess—and that phrase is used carefully—that John Gates, Daily Worker editor, has already been secretly condemned by the party leaders for going much further than they liked or intended.

The March meeting followed the February attack made in Moscow on the dead Stalin by Communist party boss Khrushchev. He talked to the party's 20th Congress and said his remarks should not be leaked to the public.

But they were leaked. Last week the State Department made public a 25,000-word version of Khrushchev's speech.

Khrushchev suggested Communists around the world switch tactics and try to create popular fronts with Socialists and others in order to take over peacefully when and where they can.

He specifically said, however, that revolution still would be necessary in those countries which resisted overthrow without violence.

It is also an educated guess that the U. S. Communist party received—before its March meeting and after Khrushchev's talk—instructions from the Kremlin on what line to follow in order to gain more power here.

The same reliable source which provided the information about the secret March meeting said Eugene Dennis, the party's secretary and real leader, laid down the new line at the meeting.

He quoted Dennis that it would have been smarter if through the years the American Communists had not always gone along—in public—100 per cent with everything Moscow said or did.

As an example, Dennis is said to have cited the party's complete endorsement of the 1939 Hitler-Stalin pact which not only shocked Americans in general but so disillusioned many Communists that they got out of the party in droves.

Dennis reportedly said it would have been shrewder if the party had straddled the fence on the Hitler-Stalin agreement. Dennis, 51, was one of the 11 top Communists found guilty in 1949 of conspiracy to teach overthrow of the government. He was given five years in jail.

Editor Gates' editorial in the Daily Worker last week criticized Khrushchev, in denunciation of Stalin, for not mentioning Stalin's attacks on the Jews. It raised questions about the role played by Khrushchev and the other new Russian leaders in Stalin's lifetime.

Gates, 43, was one of the 11 Communists convicted with Dennis. He, too, drew five years. It is possible the party may try to find some way of repudiating Gates' editorial, even to saying it does not represent the party's views.

In short, the American Communist leaders want to give the appearance, but not too strongly, of being their own men. They know that being considered Russian stooges stands in the way of any progress they hope to make.

Dr. Jordan Says—

Fearsome Yellok Jack Is Slowly Creeping Northward

To most residents of the North American continent—at least those who have not traveled abroad—yellow fever is a disease of which they have only vague knowledge. It would be well for all of us not to forget yellow fever, however. It has been here before and is moving northward from South and Central America.

Late in 1948 or 49 it crossed the Panama Canal and progressed through the Atlantic forests of western Panama and entered Costa Rica in Central America in 1951. It reached Nicaragua in 1952 and Honduras late in 1953. It is now nearing Mexico. The question is whether it will continue to advance in spite of all efforts to halt it.

In the past North America has had a bad time with yellow fever—or "yellow jack" as it was called, usually brought in from the West Indies by people on ships.

In the years between 1668 and 1821, for example, Philadelphia had about 20 epidemics, there were 25 in New York and a smaller number in other cities. As late as 1903 New York had an epidemic which brought death to 608 people.

Up until the recent northward movement of yellow fever this disease had recently appeared to exist only in South America, Africa and Panama east of the Canal Zone. What caused its disappearance from the North American continent was the discovery in 1901 by the famous Cuban, Dr. Carlos Finlay, that the disease is carried by a particular kind of mosquito. This mode of transmission was further clarified by the U. S. Army's Yellow Fever Commission in 1906 which definitely identified the mosquito as Stegomyia Fasciata.

It is interesting that the commission was composed of Drs. Walter Reed, Carroll, Agramonte, and Lazear and we owe a debt to all of them for removing this threat.

In the course of their studies, in which they allowed themselves to be bitten, Lazear lost his life from the disease and Carroll suffered a severe attack—both martyrs to science.

Screening of living quarters and active measures to destroy all mosquito breeding places were begun. In less than a year, Major, (later General) Gorgas, a sanitary specialist, was able to rid Havana of yellow fever.

He also directed the campaign against the yellow fever type mosquitoes in the Panama Canal Zone and succeeded in freeing this area by 1905.

Highway Aid Bill Will Take Some Years to Bear Fruit

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—First construction under the new, 13-year, 37 billion dollar federal aid for highways legislation should begin within 60 to 90 days, according to Bureau of Public Roads. No new organizations have to be set up to handle it, in either federal or state governments. They're ready to roll.

Even so, it may be two, three or maybe five years before the new federal aid program will be fully operative. For many curves have to be straightened in a program this big.

Copies of the new bill will be sent the states as soon as President Eisenhower signs it into law. Apportionment of funds—how much each state will get under the 90 per cent federal aid formula—will be announced soon after.

The next step is for the states to send Bureau of Public Roads in Washington their lists of projects. These are more statements of intent to build roads from A to B, C to D, etc., at such and such estimated costs.

State Highway Commission engineers will then sit down with one of nine BPR district engineers for approval of specifications. There must be U. S. government okay before any state or city authority can let contracts.

Some states already have their plans prepared. Projects previously planned for local bond issue financing may merely be shifted into the federal aid program. But they must be advertised for competitive bids for two weeks. And another two weeks will be required to sign contracts.

Then it will take contractors another month to let subcontracts for materials and to start pushing earth around.

All kinds of collateral problems have to be solved.

Right at the start, there is a shortage of engineers in both federal and state highway agencies. This is being overcome in part by the use of standardized plans for bridges.

Bureau of Public Roads design standards of 1945 are being revised to control access roads, grade crossings and separations. They're being worked out with American Association of State Highway Officials.

Acquiring rights of way for relocated and new highways provides probably the biggest headache. This is a state and city responsibility. But since the federal government is putting up 90 per cent of the money, it has the taxpayers' interests to protect in making sure there is no graft or land scandal. Controls have been written into the new law, but BPR officials hope they won't have to use them.

Only about half the states have

Act Becomes Tragedy For Thrill Show Clown

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Lawrence Anderson's act went over big for 1,500 spectators at the Jimmy Lynch Thrill Show yesterday, but for the pain-racked clown it was a tragedy.

Anderson, of Chicago, misjudged the timing of a giant firecracker, and it exploded in his left hand. His hand was blown off.

But his grease-paint smile hid his tortured face and the crowd howled with laughter as he waved an arm smeared with red that only he knew was not ketchup.

The crowd thought it was all part of the act.

The clown went to an ambulance nearby, and attendants whisked him to a hospital. Physicians said his condition was not serious.

against yellow fever in areas which are still in danger. Constant vigilance, however, is the price of safety.

adequate laws, land value schedules and trained appraisers to acquire locations at minimum costs. Land values sometimes double along new highways. It isn't just motels and filling stations that want good sites. Manufacturers depending on truck transportation grab them too.

Bureau of Public Roads will set up a revolving fund to help states acquire rights of way, if and when they are short of cash. Repayments by later state legislature appropriations will then be used to help other states.

It will be four or five years, BPR engineers believe, before there will be 50 or 100 mile stretches of the new interstate highway system open for use. States and cities have the initiative in saying what they will build. Local traffic needs govern that. The federal responsibility is to see that all construction ties into an interstate network.

Any idea that the whole country will be torn up for the next 13 years, and that tourists should stay home, is discounted. Contractors are now required to maintain adequate by-passes and detours. In some cases they're hard-surfaced.

But it will be 10 years at least before there is a genuine transcontinental highway system open for travel as far as you want to go in any and all directions. And even at the end of the program in 1969, there'll still be congestion.

"The only way to beat that," says one experienced BPR engineer, "is to adopt birth control."

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

Weeds are springing up all over our lawns, our flower beds and our gardens. Everyone deplors these scars on the landscape around us and wishes that we might not be bothered with these pests which crowd out wanted vegetation. Some of us spend long hours digging the weeds and roots out of our lawns and gardens. Others treat the intruders with chemicals so that the culprits will die and no longer bother us.

If a survey were made of time spent on weed clearance, we should probably discover that more time is used in this endeavor than is used in planting, cultivating and enjoying the weedless spaces. No statistics will deter us from trying to keep the garden clean and attractive.

When it comes to cleaning up our daily thinking, acting and relaxing, we seem to do little to clean up the way we live. We all recognize the sins we commit, the errors we make, and the faults which exist in our habits.

Once in a while we make a sweeping statement that we are not going to err any more. We vow to "do better," but our intentions are so general in nature that little is ever accomplished.

It might be well to dig out one little sin at a time. If we dig deeply enough, even a dandelion will not return. By the same token, if we delve into the deep-seated causes for the lesser faults in our lives, we might be able to eliminate them one by one.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

GOP May Have to Change Its Strategy

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The Republican high command has been doing some worried overhauling of strategy as a result of the President's sudden illness. What the outcome will be is difficult to say. But it's entirely possible, that regardless of the politicians, General Eisenhower will carry out his pledge to re-examine his health and withdraw from the race before the San Francisco convention.

Also important is a move by party strategists to drop Vice President Nixon. Despite the White House blessing given Nixon last month, some of the top command have not been happy about it, still feel that the vice presidential candidate will be almost as important as the candidate for President.

While it was carefully hushed up in the White House, the President suffered another attack, though not a long one, at a stag dinner in early March, immediately after he announced he would run again.

Attacks of acute indigestion have been troubling Mr. Eisenhower for some time, dating back to 1949 when he had to take three months off as a result of inflammation of the stomach lining. Another attack occurred immediately after he addressed the American Society of Newspaper Editors in April, 1953. He was suffering prior to the dinner, but managed to get through his speech before he was helped off the platform to a side room where he collapsed in a chair.

Televised Health Report

Unfortunately the public has never been given a clear picture of the President's health. The carefully presented, televised report on his health did not give the whole picture, as Dr. Paul Dudley White virtually admitted afterward in an interview with William McNamara of the Providence (R.I.) Journal.

On the same night that Dr. White made his health report in Washington, another distinguished heart specialist, Dr. Samuel Levine of the Harvard Medical School, publicly differed with him by stating: "Nobody can accurately predict the life span of an individual" heart patient.

When confronted with Dr. Levine's statement in Boston, Dr. White said he agreed that no one could predict the life span of a heart patient. He then pointed out something which the news headlines did not carry and most

Guest Editorial—

CAPE GIRARDEAU MISSOURIAN: Prosperity or Else. One of the arguments against federal income tax is that it has made the government increasingly independent on a single revenue source subject to wide fluctuation in the event of a business decline.

Currently the government is spending $65 billion a year of which it derives more than $52 billion from individual and corporate income taxes.

If business declined even moderately the Treasury would be in serious trouble. Unless federal expenditures were curtailed drastically, deficits would soar with an eventual threat of runaway inflation.

But it isn't easy to find a substitute tax that would not be similarly susceptible to sharp fluctuations with declining business. Most of the proposed substitutes involves sales or transactions taxes in some form.

A tax on manufacturers' sales with no exemptions would yield an estimated $13 billion a year. A tax on retail sales with no exemptions would produce an estimated $21 billion. A turnover tax on all transactions would be good for an estimated $45 billion, which comes fairly close to the yield from individual and corporate income.

But all these estimated revenue yields are based on current levels of business activity. If business fell sharply the potential yield from such substitutes would drop.

The real difficulty is that government at all levels has tied its expenditures to the assumption of perpetual prosperity. As long as that assumption governs expenditures government will be in a vulnerable position.

Kroger Co. Offers 97 Scholarships

High School graduates in this area are eligible to compete for 97 agricultural and home economics scholarships offered under the Kroger Scholarship Plan for 1956, it was announced today by J. M. Mullen, manager of the retail food firm's Kansas City branch which operates local stores.

Designed to encourage worthy young men and women to enter college who might not otherwise be able to do so, the $200 one-year scholarships will be available next fall at land-grant colleges in 17 midwestern and southern states in which Kroger operates, as well as California and Florida where the company's produce procurement offices are located.

In announcing the program, Mr. Mullen called it an "investment in knowledge" which pays "interest" in the form of helping to develop useful and active citizens of tomorrow. "Throughout its many years, the program has been a rewarding and inspiring experience for us at Kroger," he said. Originally begun at Ohio State University, the program was later expanded to include 25 land-grant colleges.

Winners are selected by the respective college scholarship committees on the basis of high school scholastic achievements and evidence of leadership qualities demonstrated in school, church, 4-H clubs, Future Farmers of America, New Farmers of America, Future Homemakers of America, or other similar organizations.

Applications should be made directly to the dean of the college of agriculture, or through county agents, home demonstration agents, home economics teachers, or vocational agriculture instructors.

Colleges participating in the Kroger Scholarship Plan in this area and the number of scholarships to be awarded at each are: University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, four; Arkansas Agricultural, Mechanical and Normal College, Pine Bluff two; Kansas State College, Manhattan, four; Lincoln University, Jefferson City, two; University of Missouri, Columbia, six.

Hal Boyle's Column— Old-Fashioned Fathers Have Almost Entirely Disappeared

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Are you the boss in your family, mister?

If you are, you are an unusual husband and father. It is getting harder and harder in our times for a man to act the role of the family boss. The former lord of the manor has become something of a mouse in his own house.

Some psychologists say it is a good thing that father is no longer the final boss. They believe the modern family doesn't need a boss, that authority and responsibility can be shared.

Maybe so, but I doubt it. You can't run a railroad or any other business without a boss, and I suspect the same thing is true of a family. A family, of course, isn't a business—but it has to be a going concern, and it needs someone at the head of it who, in a crisis, can make a final decision to which the others agree.

It is fashionable in literature now to picture the old-fashioned father as a tyrant who often inflicted his will on his family in a selfish manner, who ruled by fear more than by love.

But is this portrait true? I suspect it to be false. I believe that most old-fashioned fathers held their authority because their children both loved and respected them.

The trouble with the modern father is that he often is either too spineless or lazy to assume the proud family role nature intended him to take. No wonder his children treat him like a harmless middle-aged fossil. That's what he is.

I had an old-fashioned father. He and my mother married young and had five children. While Mama ran the house, there was never any doubt about who was the final boss—it was Dad.

I can still remember how on a summer night we children used to urge hoptoads to hop-race across the street under the lamp-light, worrying that if we touched them our fingers would break out in warts.

Promptly at 9 o'clock Dad would take his feet off the front porch bannister and stand up—the tallest tower of my lifetime—and beat his palms together like thunderclaps.

"Whap! What! Whap!" there was no missing his bedtime summons. It could be heard for two blocks. Dogs and children might growl or grumble, but they all headed for home and slumber.

There was no whining or grumbling about it. It wouldn't do any good. Before kneeling in his old-fashioned long underwear and saying his nightly prayer, Dad checked to see that every kid was under his covers and the lights were out. He thought all children should sleep in their own homes, and we were never allowed to stay overnight with neighbors. Most of us never slept away from home until we left home forever.

My wife and I have only one child, Tracy Ann, who will be three this month. For some reason, while Tracy is very fond of me, I have no more authority over

Receive Delayed Invitation to Grace, Prince's Wedding

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Daniel have received an invitation to attend the wedding of Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier in Monaco. The invitation to the Daniels was erroneously addressed—hence the delay in delivery until last Saturday.

her than a piece of wet string. I can't convince her she is too young to be a night owl.

One night recently, trying to reconcile her to the idea that bed was sweet and life would last until tomorrow, I told Tracy Ann about my father. I told her how in the long ago, on summer nights, he would stand there straight and tall on the old wooden porch and beat his echoing palms together and summon his scattered tribe to the shelter of his roof.

"Like this?" asked Tracy. She beat her two small hands together—"Pat! Pat! Pat!"—then said imperiously:

"Come to bed, Daddy. Right now."

Well, sir, believe it or not, I went to bed.

What this country needs is more old-fashioned daughters who, when they say something to their parents, really mean it.

Or am I getting mixed up?

British Official, Wife Are Separated

LONDON (AP)—Mrs. Anthony Nutting, wife of Britain's glamor-boy diplomat, says she and her husband are separated but she isn't thinking about a divorce.

"It is an official separation, and there has been a financial settlement," said Mrs. Nutting. "So far as I am concerned there is no question of divorce."

Mrs. Nutting gave no reason for the rift.

Nutting, 36-year-old minister of state for foreign affairs, is one of the brightest of the Conservative party's younger lights. As the leader of several British delegations, he won widespread respect for his diplomatic skill and ability in debate. His suave good looks made him a favorite with feminine audiences.

Race Drivers Arriving For Sunday Meet

100-Mile Classic To Be on Mo. State Fair Mile Track

The air of racing has hit Sedalia with the arrival of a number of drivers of the late model convertibles which will compete Sunday in the 100-mile race on the mile dirt track at the Missouri State Fair grounds. Several of the top drivers who raced at Hutchinson, Kan., night and are working on their cars, tuning them up, making necessary repairs and getting them in tip-top condition for the big event.

At the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce office, Monday night, it was reported requests for reserved and box seats tickets were far greater than anticipated, giving indications to a overflowing crowd for this week. Bill Corley, the promoter of the first big dirt track event in Sedalia of this type, has already received more than 15 entries and anticipates before the day of the meet he will have many more wanting in the time trials to make their times to compete in the 100-mile classic.

Corley who represents H. E. Redkey and Associates Inc., of Indianapolis, Ind., was well pleased to meet Mr. Redkey in Sedalia Monday night. He arrived from Indianapolis to remain in Sedalia the remainder of the week and to witness the race.

The race is sanctioned by the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR) one of the largest such organizations in the country which sanctions races throughout the world. The race will be held under the rules and regulations of NASCAR.

In discussing convertible racing, Mr. Redkey said, "the best way for the public to learn about the racing of convertibles before the race is for the speed enthusiast to 'buttonhole' any of these drivers and talk with them. To hear their side of the racing is an education in itself."

Frank Munday, Atlanta, who won at Hutchinson, and who is a big name in stock car racing has entered the Sedalia race. Munday got a late start this season, but is steadily climbing up the ladder to the championship of the country. These champions are won by points made in the various races throughout the country.

More than ten of the big time race drivers have already entered the Sunday classic, and many more are expected to have their entries in before Saturday.

The feature event will get underway behind a 1953 red Chevrolet convertible of the Mike O'Connor Chevrolet Buick Motor Company. The O'Connor car was selected by Corley last Saturday and will likewise add color to the starting of the race.

The time trials begin at 1 o'clock followed at 2:30 with the starting of the feature.

Ortega Wins Split Decision Over Poirier; Rematch Is Planned

NEW YORK (AP)—Matchmaker Teddy Brenner today planned to rematch Mexico's Gaspar (Indian) Ortega and Gene Poirier of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and well he might.

They are both action-plus club-fighters and they staged a stirring 16-round television scrap at St. Nicholas Arena last night.

Ortega, the 6-5 favorite, was awarded a split decision in a tightly-fought contest.

Referee Ray Miller (5-3-2) and Judge Joe Eppy (6-4) each scored for Ortega. Judge Nick Gamboli had it even, giving each five rounds and five points. The AP card had Poirier in front, 5-4-1.

There were only six clinches, three of them in the final round when both were weary from the furious pace. Both bled from the nose and blood sprayed over the ring each time they were hit on the snout—and that happened often.

Poirier hurt Ortega in the seventh round with a right smash to the nose for the hardest punch of the night.

They were matched in weight too. Each weighed 151 pounds.

Voiselle Broke in on Crackers

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Bill Voiselle, the New York Giant pitcher of a few years ago who now hurls in relief for the International League Richmond Virginians, got $150 when he signed in 1938 as a high school star near his present home at Ninety-Six, S.C.

"They gave me $150," Bill says, "and promised me another $150 if I stayed 30 days. They were afraid I would get homesick."

"They sent me to Moultrie, Ga. First time I had ever been away from home, and when I got there, the manager gave me a letter and told me to show it to the people at the restaurant."

"I didn't know too much about restaurants, so I would just go to the drug store and get me a couple of packages of crackers and something to drink."

"The manager finally saw I was getting a little peaked and got one of the other boys to take me to the restaurant. All I had to do to get something to eat was show 'em the letter."

Bad Habit Of Cardinals Costs Heavily

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The St. Louis Cardinals have made a habit of handing unearned runs to the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers this season and it has cost them heavily in the National League race.

The Dodgers scored three decisive unearned runs as the Redbirds kicked two eighth-inning double play grounders last night at St. Louis and took an 8-6 victory.

Vic Power batted in two runs with a homer, double and single to help the Kansas City Athletics beat Washington behind Alex Kellner's seven-hitter, 6-3, and get a split of a double header last night at Washington. The Senators took the first game, 4-3, on Carlos Paula's three-run pinch homer in the eighth.

Nine unearned runs helped the Dodgers to a sweep of a two-game set at Brooklyn during the last Eastern swing by Fred Hutchinson's men.

The last defeat hurt because by winning St. Louis would have taken over undisputed first place. Instead, they dropped into third place.

A crowd of 26,075 saw Duke Snider keep the Dodgers in the game and pull them even at 3-3 with his 12th and 13th homers of the season and a run-scoring single early in the big eighth.

Don Newcomb won his ninth victory although allowing 10 hits, including homers by Wally Mott and Hank Sauer. Starter Tom Poholsky took his fourth straight defeat after three opening victories, but yielded only five hits.

Johnny Groth blasted a pair of homers for all the A's runs in the opener and Lou Kretlow had a 3-1 lead on a four-hitter entering the last of the eighth. After he walked Whitey Herzog, little Bobby Shantz was summoned from the bullpen.

Pete Rumeis hit Shantz for a single and after Roy Sievers fled out, Paula slammed his homer to give Pete Ramos the victory and hand Shantz the defeat.

Mickey Mantle Puts Record Of Babe Ruth in Jeopardy

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—For the first time in nearly 20 years, the 60-home run record of the immortal Babe Ruth is in jeopardy. Mickey Mantle, the kid who hits them into space, is the challenger and his boss, New York Yankee Manager Casey Stengel, thinks the lad just might make it this year.

Other experienced observers, such as Yankee Coach Bill Dickey, a teammate of Ruth's and Mel Ott, the all-time home run king of the National League, firmly believe Mantle will break the Babe's most coveted of all records, if not this year, then surely in one of the years to come . . . if he can avoid getting hurt.

There have been only three genuine challenges to Ruth's 1927 record. Hack Wilson hit 56 home runs for the Chicago Cubs in 1930, Jimmy Foxx snatched 58 for the Philadelphia Athletics in 1932 and Hank Greenberg hammered 58 for the Detroit Tigers in 1938.

Mickey himself scoffs at such talk.

"I'm no Ruth, Foxx or Greenberg," he insists. "It would be silly of me to think I can beat Ruth's record. The most I ever hit was 37 last year. Before the season started I said I would be satisfied with 40. Now, in view of my fast start, I hope I can reach 50. But I'll still be satisfied with having a good year and that's that."

For five years Mickey has been rated potentially as one of the greatest players of all time.

But Mantle has several things going for him this year he lacked in the past. He has developed his batting eye with the result he strikes out fewer times. He no longer is anxious to hit every pitch out of the park and consequently, does not swing at as many bad pitches.

The fences in two American League parks have been shortened which should help him. Griffith Stadium's spacious playing area has been cut by as much as 50 feet and the centerfield barrier in Baltimore has been reduced 25 feet.

Probably most important has been the perceptible change in

Nine House of David Players Experienced in Pro-Baseball

The Sedalia Athletics will have a tough task Wednesday night if they expect to defeat the star-studded House of David club of Benton Harbor, Mich., in a game at Liberty Park.

In the first place, the Davids have never developed a losing habit during their 37 seasons as a globe-traveling independent baseball team. Second, the Davids claim the 1956 edition of their club is the best in years.

Nine members of the 13-man roster carried by the Michigan aggregation have had professional experience. Three others were outstanding semi-pro performers who have appeared in the national semi-pro tournament at Wichita, Kan., and George Anderson, the manager, has been with the Davids since boyhood.

Here's how the House of David roster stacks up:

Centerfielder Bill Swanson formerly played in the Florida State League. Rated an excellent outfielder with tremendous speed, Swanson also takes an occasional turn on the mound.

Third baseman Mel Sheary, a classy stickler, played at Nebraska University and later in a strong semi-pro loop in South Dakota.

Hank Robinson, the second baseman, has been in organized ball since 1943. In 1951 he was with Laredo, Tex., in '53 and '54 with Tyler, Tex., and last season toiled for Lubbock. Robinson has been the leading long ball hitter for the Davids this season.

Former Kansas City Athletic farm hand, Chuck Edge, will be in left field against the A's. Also a long ball hitter, Edge is hitting at a .400 clip for the season.

After playing seven seasons in organized ball, Ted Russ joined the Davids this past year and is their No. 1 receiver. In 1951 Russ managed Middleboro of the Mountain States League and during the off-season he coaches at Nebraska Wesleyan.

Left-hander Bill Carluccio handles the initial sack for the bearded Davids after taking all state semi-pro honors and the New Jersey semi-pro batting title for four consecutive seasons.

In right field John Bodine is expected to start. Bodine played in the Evangeline League in 1950 and is in his second season with the Davids.

The pitching staff of Sam Zelms, Gary Wykoff, John Chezik and Jack Garrett has given all opposition trouble this season. Zelms was with the Pirates during spring training but was given an outright release due to arm trouble.

Chezik, formerly pitched in the Cotton States League with Pine Bluff, Ark., and is in his first season with the Davids. Neither Wykoff or Garrett had had pro experience, but have proven capable hurlers.

Tom Brewer, Once Ignored, Is Now Ace of Red Sox Staff

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Tom Brewer, the kid right-hander, was almost forgotten in pre-season talk of Boston's pennant potential, but now he's the ace of the Red Sox staff and the only American League pitcher with nine victories.

Last spring, the 24-year-old North Carolinian was mentioned only as the fourth man in Boston's pitching picture. Frank Sullivan, Bob Porterfield and Willard Nixon were the big guns—but now they can only count nine successes among them with 10 defeats. Brewer's only loss was to New York.

An 11-10 record last season and a 10-9 mark in 1954 put Brewer in the shadows. Now he's sailing free and easy, with a 2.38 earned run average, eight straight victories and six complete games in his 11 starts. What's more, he has Cleveland's Indians stuffed in his hip pocket.

He set down the second-place Tribe on three hits last night 5-1 for his seventh straight victory over the Indians, the third this season. He didn't give a hit after a fourth-inning double by Vic Wertz as the Sox salvaged a split in their day-night doubleheader. Porterfield gave the Tribe only four hits in the day game, but three of 'em were home runs and Cleveland took it 4-1.

Baltimore replaced Detroit in fifth, by one point, edging the Tigers 5-4. Washington split a tight twin bill with Kansas City, winning 4-3, then losing 6-3. New York and Chicago were idle.

St. Louis blew a chance for the National League lead, losing to Brooklyn 8-6 as the Dodgers moved into fourth place while Milwaukee slumped to fifth in a 6-2 defeat by Philadelphia. St. Louis fell from second to third behind Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, idle with New York and Chicago.

Brewer had two singles and drove in the deciding run last night against loser Mike (4-6) Garcia after Jackie Jensen had tied it 1-all with his sixth homer. Ted Williams had two doubles in Boston's 10 hits.

The Cardinals chipped in three unearned runs as the Dodgers scored four in the eighth, then led it with Randy Jackson's two-run double in the ninth. Tom Po-

Milwaukee Hits Second Division After Losing 6-2

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves, who lost their homer-hitting ability when they came home June 1, left first place a week ago and hit the second division last night after losing to last-place Philadelphia 6-2.

Accompanying the Braves' batting troubles has been the failure of lanky right-hander Gene Conley, whose return from the sick list was supposed to give Milwaukee a cast-iron pitching staff.

Since June 1 Conley has lost to Pittsburgh 4-2, bowed to Brooklyn 5-2, and was charged with last night's defeat.

Last night he gave up only one hit and faced only 12 batters in the first four innings, then fell apart in the fifth and gave up three runs on three singles and a double. He retired from the game in the next inning after allowing another double and a single.

The Braves were riding one game ahead of the pack May 31 after socking five homers in beating the Chicago Cubs 15-8 at Wrigley Field. That made a total of 16 homers in four straight games.

Since then, in 12 games here, they've collected only three homers and have won only three of the dozen contests.

The last Milwaukee homer was hit by Del Crandall June 7 against the Dodgers.

Hamm's Now Tied With Jaycees In Industrial League

Tom's TV, and Sealtest Milk battled to move from the cellar position in the Sedalia Industrial League Monday night with Tom's moving out on a 9-5 victory. In the second game which started out a scrap between Hamm's Beer and the Moose Club, ended abruptly at the end of the fifth after Hamm's started a seven run rally in the top half of the fifth.

In the opener Tom's staged a barrage and took an early lead of 5-0 in the first inning, but from then on it was a battle with Tom's only scoring four runs and Sealtest five. The big inning was the difference.

J. Violet relieved in the fourth by Walker was the winner and J. Mosby the loser. Red Richardson hit a circuit drive for Tom's.

Hamm's took the lead in their game 2-1 in the first inning and were never threatened from there out. The seven run inning in the fifth was enough to stop the game having a 13-run lead, a seven run lead after the fifth brings the game to a halt.

B. Shultz who was relieved in the fifth was the winning hurler. St. Cyr was the relief pitcher. C. Young, was the loser. He was relieved in the fourth by Hoover who gave up the mound to Garrett in the fifth.

Carver, Whitfield and Sims hit homers for Hamm's.

Hamm's are now tied with the Jaycees in the league standing having five wins and no losses. These two teams clash Thursday night for the league lead.

Tonight Meadow Gold plays Jolly Welders and Sealtest meets Gries-dieck.

Blair Heads Jeff City In 4-Team Country Club Match Here

The 1956 chapter of the men's Central Missouri Inter-City golf matches will be christened here Thursday when ten-men teams from Jefferson City, Columbia and Fulton will meet with the Sedalia Country Club ten.

Once again Sedalia, Columbia and Fulton will be vying their warsticks at Jefferson City, defending champion, which team for the past several years has been the scourge of Inter-City golf. Last year Sedalia occupied third place after the close of the four-match affair, topped by Columbia in second spot, with Fulton bringing up the rear in fourth.

The big attraction in Thursday's match will be Jim Tom Blair III, recent runnerup and twice State Amateur champion, leading the strong Jeff City team. Also adding dazzle to Jeff City's list of players will be Ed Loeffler, runnerup in the state tourney last year, and Dr. Paul Leslie.

The four teams will play their second match at the Jefferson City Country Club June 21, the third at Fulton C. C. on June 28, and the final at Columbia C. C. July 12.

Heading up Sedalia's contention will be Charles Patterson, club champion, followed by the remaining nine listed in the respective order they will play: Herb Studer, Bernard Stanfield, Frankie Reynolds, Lloyd Parker, Jack Wilt, Ted Maloney, Jack Herbst, Gentry Patterson and John Van Dyne. Alternates are Laddie Keens and Cecil Owen.

Hutton Makes Big-Salaried Film Return

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Betty Hutton is making her first picture in four years, and others should do as well on their film returns.

During her heyday at Paramount, the blonde bombshell did two or three pictures a year on a flat salary of $5,000 a week. Now she's costarring with Dana Andrews in "Spring Reunion" at $100,000 plus 20 per cent of the gross. The salary alone comes to around $20,000 a week.

"Not bad for a comeback!" she laughed between takes.

It's a different Betty you see these days. No more the frantic conferences, the tension on the set. She's smooth, easy-going and sure of herself.

"For one thing, I know what I'm doing," she explained. "We had two weeks of rehearsals with Dana, the director, Bob Pirosh, and with the camera crew. We went over the scenes thoroughly so we come to work knowing what we're going to shoot."

"That never happened at Paramount. I'd come to the studio and walk right into some guy's arms."

After four or five love scenes, I'd say to him, "By the way, my name's Betty Hutton."

There's another reason for the change in Betty's attitude. She has a different approach to her work. "This time I'm going for the money," she said frankly. "Nuts to art; I've had my share of that."

She said that her husband Alan Livingston, former Capitol Records biggie and now a top man with NBC, convinced her to change. This came after her much-publicized retirement.

"You can't quit this way," he told her. "You think you've been licked. You'll never be happy until you realize you aren't licked. Try it again, but this time go for commercial success. Then you can quit after two or three years and be contented."

That's her present plan. She wants to work hard for a few years, then quit for good. She intends to keep active in films, TV, night clubs and records.

Steve Allen Draws Bead On Sullivan

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—For almost a year now people in television have been talking about a drama entitled "The Man Who Knocked Off Ed Sullivan" which Paddy Chayefsky is supposed to be writing.

The exact plot of the drama is booting off freely. But since it can be reliably reported that Chayefsky has not written a line of the drama, it's rather difficult to see how so many people can know what it's about.

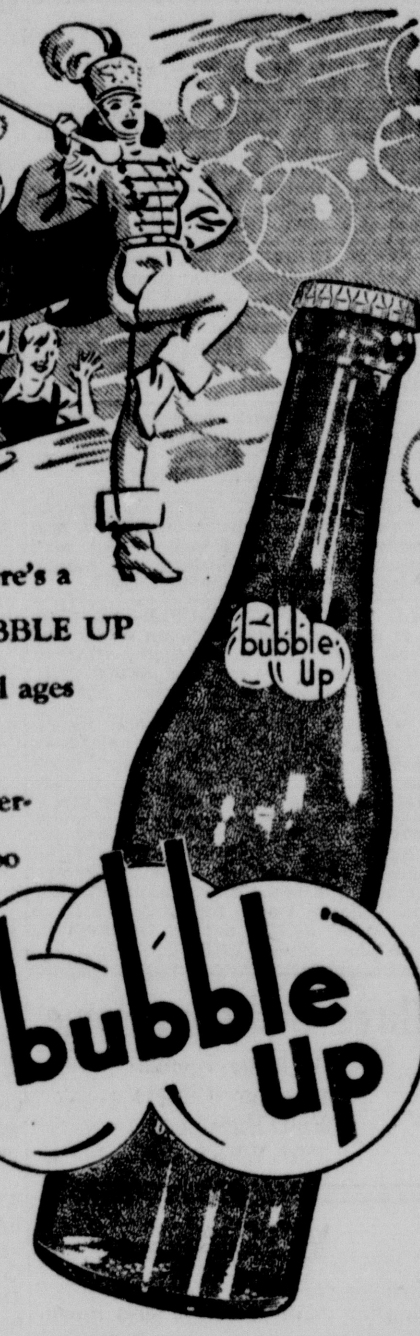

At any rate, the title expresses the dream wish-fulfillment of many executives of NBC who long have been bothered and bewildered by the phenomenally long and consistently popular appeal of Ed Sullivan over on the opposition CBS-TV. Twice in the past season Sullivan has knocked off NBC-TV shows; or, to be more exact, he simply has captured their audiences so thoroughly that the shows folded.

On Sunday, June 24, NBC is sending in a new show opposite Sullivan. It is shepherded by Steven Allen, a quiet, articulate and very amusing guy who long has been delighting millions in the hours around midnight with his Tonight show.

Any David and Goliath talk in connection with the estimable Mr. Sullivan makes Allen squirm slightly, but he is a serious artist in the craft of comedy and entertainment. His thoughts run along the lines of "Let's put on the best possible show and forget about Sullivan."

"At first, we don't want to start out with anything too revolutionary," he said recently. "Natural—we're seeking popular entertainers. But I'd hate to see this develop into a booking battle with Ed Sullivan. A booking battle is as self-defeating as an arms race or a price war."

Survey Shows Most Prisoners Neutral While Held by Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Eighty per cent of the American war prisoners repatriated after the Korean War neither resisted nor cooperated with their Communist captors, an Army research study shows.

Based on analysis of the records of the 3,323 former prisoners, the study classified 15 per cent as collaborators and the remaining 5 per cent as resisters. The study did not take into account the actions of more than 3,000 others who died in captivity.

Those who did cooperate with their captors, the study showed, did so primarily not because of any belief in communism but to avoid possible mistreatment and to obtain preferential treatment.

There was little difference in the backgrounds of the resisters and the participants, said the study. The latter group, it added, "came back in physically better shape," but the resisters had "fewer neurotic symptoms."

German Police Report Finding New Racket In Traveler's Checks

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Police reported today they have unearthed an elaborate racket in which a band of international crooks has been filching traveler's checks from wealthy tourists and cashing them all over Europe.

Frankfurt authorities called a news conference to announce the first arrest had been made and that police of 10 countries are moved in on the gang.

At least 600,000 marks—$142,900—has fallen into the gang's hands in Germany alone, Frankfurt police said, adding that the haul runs into the millions in Italy, Austria, Spain, Tangier, Portugal and Scandinavia.

Reports Published Monthly--

All Farmers Are Forecasters For US Information System

COLUMBIA (AP)—Every Missouri farmer is a crop forecaster at one time or another under a system of gathering information on growing crops to be issued as official U. S. Department of Agriculture and State Department of Agriculture crop reports made public each month.

Alfred C. Brittain, veteran federal crop forecaster, heads a staff that analyzes some 20,000 estimates of farmers to issue the summary of crop conditions and yield forecasts that are issued on the tenth of each month.

Brittain has the assistance of rural mail carriers in obtaining the information. Crop reporting blanks are sent to them with instructions to put them in every other mail box on rural mail routes. Odd-numbered boxes are used one year, and even-numbered the next so that all farmers participate. In addition, county assessors interview all farmers once each year to determine harvested acreage, and this information, too, is relayed to Brittain's office.

Brittain said that the state offices are allowed a two per cent error each way, and it isn't difficult to stay within the four-point spread. "If the farmers understand, they turn in accurate estimates," he said. "We have found that errors tend to balance themselves in the large number of reports analyzed."

The mailed-in reports at times are supplemented by personal observation by Brittain and three of his technicians. In the last two weeks, for instance, a staff member has traveled south, west and northwest Missouri to survey such growing crops as small grains as well as to look over cultivation of corn and soybeans and the effect of northwest Missouri's drought on grass and hay crops. Similar personal surveys are made for specific studies, such as an early frost that may have hit a corn crop.

Egypt Is Believed To Have Added Ships In Soviet Arms Deal

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Egypt is believed to have added ships to the planes and other arms she has received from the Communist bloc.

A brief official statement said "new units for the Egyptian navy arrived in Alexandria harbor to reinforce the Egyptian navy." It did not give the number, type or origin of the units.

It was recalled here, however, that dispatches from London more than a week ago reported two destroyers flying the Polish ensign had passed through the English Channel. British newspapers speculated then that the vessels were included in the Soviet bloc arms deal with Egypt.

Jumps From Window, Gives Birth to Boy

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A 31-year-old woman was in "fair" condition in North Broward General Hospital today after she jumped from a window and 20 minutes later gave birth to a baby.

The woman, under medication to ease the pain of childbirth, fell 15 feet from a third floor window to the roof of the first floor. Mrs. Della Albert, nursing supervisor, said a nurse found the woman standing in her bed and trying to get out of a window, which she had unlatched.

The nurse, Mrs. Helen Savage, caught the woman's feet as she jumped but was unable to hold on. The woman reportedly had been despondent.

Hospital authorities said she suffered lacerations of the skull and bruises.

The baby, a 10-pound boy, was reported in "fine" condition.

High School Girl Breaks Into 18 Banks

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—A high school girl broke into 18 banks to help finance a trip to Europe this summer.

However, 14-year-old Jeanne McClure had every right to "crack" the banks since she had stuffed them with pennies, nickles and dimes during the past 12 years. She opened the piggy banks this week and counted out $132.

She and her mother will leave soon for the European tour.

Simple Jail Stay Causes Big Outcry

CONCORDIA, Kan. (AP)—Two governors, a U. S. congressman and the Navy have been asked to help get Riley Dietz Jr. out of the Cloud County Jail.

"It's not the money so much as the principle of the thing," said his father, an Iowa legislator.

Gordon Danielson, county attorney, said the law is that Dietz has to pay $34.50.

The 23-year-old Navy enlisted man was arrested May 21 while driving from his home at Walcott, Iowa, to his base at Hutchinson, Kan.

Highway Patrolman Robert Herter said he apparently went to sleep at the wheel, crossed the center line and forced a tractor-trailer truck off the highway with considerable damage.

Dietz pleaded guilty to charges of reckless driving and operating a vehicle without a valid driver's license. Fines and court costs totaled $34.50.

Danielson said Dietz was jailed when he could not pay and was given access to a telephone.

Dietz called his wife in Davenport to tell her of his plight but indicated at the same time he was calling his Navy base for help.

The next his family heard of him was another telephone call Sunday. He still was in jail.

The elder Dietz said he supposed the fine long since had been paid and his son was back at the Navy base.

The father complained that at least his son's jail time should count against the fine. A dollar a day is the traditional allowance.

But Prosecutor Danielson said Kansas law does not allow this.

Riley Dietz Sr. asked Iowa's Gov. Leo Hoegh and Rep. Fred Schwengel (R-Iowa) to investigate.

Gov. Hoegh's office said it was asking Gov. Fred Hall of Kansas for a report.

Rep. Schwengel indicated he was taking it up with the Navy.

Truce Teams Move Out of North Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Pyongyang radio today announced the withdrawal of the four-power armistice inspection teams from North Korea.

An American source here said members of the truce team arrived this morning in Panmunjom, in the neutral demarcation zone between North and South Korea. He added that "presumably" all the Swiss, Swedish, Czech and Polish inspectors had moved out of the North.

The Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission ordered the withdrawal from the North after the U. N. Command told the truce teams to get out of South Korea.

The U. N. Allies charged the Communist Czech and Polish truce inspectors were conniving with the North Koreans in an effort to hide an arms buildup in violation of the armistice.

Movie Actors' Claims Dismissed by Court

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Damage claims of 23 actors, writers and other film workers who said they were on a Hollywood "black list" have been denied by the State District Court of Appeal.

The plaintiffs contended they have been prevented from getting movie work since Sept. 20, 1951, because of refusals to testify before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

They sued every major film company and film distributing company, plus Representatives Doyle (D-Calif) and Jackson (R-Calif), members of the House committee. The group claimed the movie industry agreed not to hire anyone whose political beliefs were not acceptable to the House committee.

The 23, including film players Gale Sondergaard, Anne Revere and Howard Da Silva and writers Waldo Salt and Paul Jarrico, asked damages of 2 1/2 million dollars each.

Their claims were dismissed in Superior Court, which held there were no guarantees of employment for those involved. The 23 appealed from the dismissal.

Sweepstakes Winner Collects Punch

DETROIT (AP)—Joseph Glinski, who won $140,000 on the Irish Sweepstakes last week, hasn't collected anything yet but a punch on the nose.

Records at the Chene precinct police station show the 64-year-old bachelor's troubles started the night newspapers carried reports that he owned a winning ticket. The police account told the story this way:

Glinski stepped into a neighborhood bar where he met an acquaintance, Stanley Pluta, 41. Pluta ordered drinks for all.

The bartender asked for the money, some $6 or $7, and Pluta replied:

"Joe's going to pay because he just won all the money."
"The heck I am," Glinski declared. "You ordered them; you pay."

At that point, Pluta punched Glinski. Pluta was held overnight by police and released without charge.
